Philos Culbertson, Colored Farm La-brcer, Describes Incidents of Day at Inquest.

Coroner A. G. Shauck filed the verdict in the Harris case this afternoon. He says that it charges Mrs. L. B. Harris was murdered in her home at Ashland farm, Tuesday, March 12, before the house was set on fire.

It is understood that the verdict implicates some person. Immediately after the verdict was placed in the hands of the clerk of the circuit court and the file seal was placed on it, the document was snatched by John C. Cheney of Shelbyville, deputy prosecutor, who rushed to the grand jury room. He refused to make any of its contents public.

It is inferred that the verdict charges some person with the murder for the reason that the State's officials will not allow the finding to be made public. This inference is drawn from the additional fact that Coroner Shauck asserts that the verdict states Mrs. Harris met death by foul play.

It is known that the finding says Mrs. Harris was killed with a pistol or revolver. The coroner's evidence reveals that a pistol shot was heard the morning of the tragedy.

The coroner has had his verdict prepared for several days. During that time he has been held off by the State's attorneys who desired to keep the details of the finding and the evidence from the public.

Mrs. Harris, whose charred remains were found in the ruins of the beautiful country home at Ashland farm, Tuesday evening, March twelfth, was a very prominent woman. The coroner began his investigation immediately after that. Foul play was suspected by the coroner from the beginning.

The coroner's verdict is based on a lot of evidence gathered from almost innumerable sources. The chief witness at the inquest, and the one who has told the main story of the incidents of that eventful day, Tuesday, March 12, because he was most directly associated with them, was Philos Culbertson, age twenty-two, the negro farm laborer, who was employed at Ashland farm two weeks previous to the tragedy, and at two different times before that, and who sought the protection of the county jail two days after the inquiry was begun for fear his life, too, might be taken.

A rug which is said to have been stained with blood when it was removed from the premises at Ashland farm, and some blood-stained bed-clothing and wearing apparel, which were found in the washing which Paul Harris took from his father's home the morning of the tragedy, and which the negro farm laborer brought on to the home of Mrs. Jane Moore in Rushville, form the chief bits of incriminating evidence which the authorities now have in their possession, and have had since two days after the fire.

The rug, or parts of it were taken to Indianapolis, and the red blotches in it were analyzed by an experienced chemist. The chemist told the coroner that the spots were blood. The rug was saved from the fire along with several other articles of household furniture, and when the suspicion of the coroner was aroused after the inquiry had been started, the rug was taken from the home of Alva Eakins, a neighbor of Harris' where it had been hauled after the fire, and secreted in the county jail.

The day following the fire Sheriff Clata Bebout and Coroner Shauck seized the laundry taken to the home of Mrs. Moore, searched through it carefully and retained some of it as evidence. That some of the articles of that bunch of laundry have blood on them is positively asserted. That a sheet has blood spots on the under side of it—the side which was turned toward the mattress of the bed—is also known to be a fact. Articles were found in the laundry which would not need to be sent to be washed. Clean socks and other articles of clean wearing apparel were found by the authorities.

The testimony of Philos Culbertson at the inquest was to the effect that he arose Tuesday morning, March twelfth, as usual, and went about his duties at the farm. He said that Paul stayed at Ashland farm all night, and that he (Culbertson) was in the house only once that morning before he left, when he went in to get some water to mix feed for the hogs because the pipes were all frozen up. At that time, the negro testified, Paul and his mother were in the front part of the house singing and playing on the piano.

Culbertson went about his work and noticed nothing unusual, according to his testimony, until, while he was hitching up the horse so he could take Paul home and bring the laundry on to Rushville, he heard a shot fired in the house. The buggy shed where Culbertson was hitching the horse was two hundred feet from the house. Culbertson said the dog, which stays about the farm, noticed the shot, and began howling and ran toward the house.

Culbertson told the coroner he ran to the house to learn what the trouble was. He said that when he reached the back door, Paul Harris peered out through the glass in the door, but never offered to open it. Culbertson declared that Paul had on a pair of gloves and no coat.

The negro testified that when he drove the horse up to the gate at the walk leading from the back door of the house, Paul appeared at the door with the laundry wrapped up in a sheet. The farm hand said Paul was perspiring freely when he got in the buggy. Culbertson detailed what he remembered of the conversation between himself and Paul on the drive from Ashland farm to Paul's house, which is about five miles south.

Culbertson said during that drive Paul talked about being afraid that his mother would commit suicide. He testified also that Paul told him he (Paul) had purchased a gun recently for his mother, because he feared she would be hurt while alone at home. The negro, it is said, is uncertain about the time he and Paul left home or the time he arrived in Rushville. Of one thing he is certain, however, that he was in Rushville playing pool at Marvin Lively's pool room about one o'clock when he was notified the house at Ashland farm was ablaze, and started for the farm at once. It is said that the negro met Paul, who was racing a horse across the country to his father's home, took him in the buggy, and drove on to Ashland farm.

The back door of the farm house was wrenched off its hinges the day of the fire so some household goods could be carried out. The coroner went back to Ashland farm the Sunday night following the tragedy, intending to examine the door for evidence, but was disturbed by the dog, which was still standing guard over the ruins of the house, and was compelled to leave.

L. B. Harris testified before the coroner that he talked over the telephone to his wife and son both at Ashland farm from Davis Brothers livery stable here in Rushville at ten-thirty o'clock the Tuesday morning of the fire. The train which leaves here for Cambridge City at ten-thirty in the morning, was late that morning.

Mrs. Willis Bell, who lives in the vicinity of Ashland farm, talked to Mrs. Harris over the telephone the morning of the eventful day, according to her testimony at the inquest. So far as the coroner's evidence shows, Mrs. Bell was the last person who held any conversation with Mrs. Harris. Mrs. Bell testified that she talked with Mrs. Harris that morning a few minutes before eleven o'clock, and that their clock was about twenty minutes too fast. Mrs. Mande Vandiment says she was at the Bell home while Mrs. Bell talked to Mrs. Harris that day.

The incident in regard to a telephone call from this city that morning has never been cleared up by evidence obtained by the coroner in the inquest. Mrs. A. L. Aldridge talked to Mrs. Harris over the telephone at nine-fifty o'clock that Tuesday morning concerning plans to practice for the Ladies Musicales in this city. Mrs. Aldridge was to let Mrs. Harris know in a few minutes after the conversation whether she should come to Rushville that afternoon for practice.

At ten minutes after ten, Mrs. Aldridge began calling Mrs. Harris by telephone but was never answered. Mrs. Aldridge made several attempts to get an answer as she thought it strange Mrs. Harris did not answer the telephone since she was expecting news from Mrs. Aldridge at that time. Mrs. Aldridge inquired at central and found the telephone was in good condition. She called Mrs. Verne Norris by telephone and asked Mrs. Norris to see if she could get

COUNCIL TO MEET AGAIN IN 30 DAYS

County Organization Will at That Time Consider Question of Repairing Court House.

NEW ROOF WILL BE COSTLY

One Member Advocates Building
Power House in Court House Yard—Steam in Cellar.

The county council adjourned yesterday afternoon to meet again inside thirty days to take up the question of making the much needed repairs on the court house. The court house repair question was taken up at the special session Saturday, but nothing was done, as it was apparent, after an examination of the court house, that it would require several days to appropriate money to pay for repairs that are apparent, and for other repairs which it would be found would be needed if some investigation were made.

One of the things advocated by certain members of the county is to move the county power house, which furnishes heat for the county jail and court house, to the court house lawn at the southeast corner of the court house. This plan is being advanced by one member of the county council and other members of the county council are taking up with it. This was suggested because the commissioners asked for an appropriation to buy new boilers.

Many Rushville men, and farmers over the county, hold up their hands in horror at the thought of such a thing. It is shown that other counties are taking steps to beautify their court house lawns instead of to deface them.

That such a move would mar the beauty of the county house lawn is generally admitted. The members of the county council who is advocating the building of a power house at the southeast corner of the court house apparently does not think of the beauty, but is taking consideration only the idea that some money might be saved.

It is the argument of some members of the council that money would be saved by building a power house, because then the carrying of the steam to the court house would be done away with. On the other hand men who are opposed to the plan to destroy the beauty of the court house lawn say that it would be no cheaper to carry the steam back to the jail than it would be to carry it to the court house as is now being done.

Members of the council have complained because steam was wasted last winter because of a break in the pipe in First street which conveys steam to the court house. That break can be repaired, it is declared, and besides a break might occur in the pipe that carried steam from a power house on the court house lawn to the jail.

Investigations which have been made as a result of the county council asking for estimates on the cost of repairing the court house resulted in the discovery that the cellar of the court house is in a terrible shape. Asbestos has been torn from the pipes, and much heat that should have been utilized in the court house escaped and went to waste in the cellar.

Furthermore the escaping steam in the cellar has resulted in the wood floor in the assembly room and the mission mosaic floors in other rooms of the court house cracking. The escaping steam also made the cellar damp, and that together with other debris which has been lodged in the cellar, generated gases which

O'NEIL HEARING TO BE WEDNESDAY

Judge Blair Announces he Will Hear Evidence of Both Sides in the Morning.

WITNESSES CALLED FOR THEN

Court Explains That Any of Three Methods Might be Followed in Investigating.

When court convened this morning Judge Blair announced that he would shoulder the responsibility in Prosecutor O'Neil's case, and that the investigation would be started tomorrow morning at nine o'clock.

The court admonished both the prosecutor, who filed a petition to revoke the appointment of Wallace Morgan as his deputy, and Mr. Morgan, who replied to the charges yesterday with a vehement denial and a demand that an investigation be made, to have their witnesses on hand tomorrow morning at nine o'clock, and he would hear the testimony of both sides to prove or refute the charges.

Judge Blair pointed out that there are three ways by which the investigation could be taken up. The first plan he suggested was that a committee from the local bar association might be appointed by him to learn the truth or the falsity of the charges as made by the prosecutor.

The objection to this plan, Judge Blair said, was that too often it was charged, and many times unjustly so, that committees from the bar association used the "white-wash brush" too freely when investigating charges preferred against their members.

Judge Blair said the second plan might be to charge the grand jury to investigate the case thoroughly. He said there was an objection to that method, also. He pointed out that he could not very well hear such a case after the grand jury had reported, and that it would be necessary to appoint a special judge, which would entail an extra expense on the county.

The third plan explained by Judge Blair was that he could hear the case directly himself and decide on it after hearing the evidence from both sides.

It was pointed out by attorneys today that an error was made yesterday that he would fix the matter up after Mr. Morgan had filed his denial of the prosecutor's charges yesterday. Instead the court said that he would take up the matter.

MRS. CHARLES MILLER DEAD

Expired Yesterday Afternoon at Her Home Near Homer.

Mrs. Nellie Miller, 29 years old, wife of Charles Miller, died yesterday afternoon about five o'clock at her home southwest of the city. Mrs. Miller had been ill for two months suffering with anemia, which caused her death. She is survived by her husband and three children, Floyd, Loraine and Lonetta. The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon in the Christian Union church in Homer. Burial will take place in the Hurst cemetery.

OPEN EVTNINGS.

Beginning with tonight the county treasurer's office in the court house will be open from 7 until 9 o'clock each evening to accommodate taxpayers.

GRAND JURY IS CHARGED BY BLAIR

That Body Goes in Session Today,
But Prosecutor O'Neil is Not in Charge.

JOHN CHENEY AT ITS HEAD

Court Urges Jurors to Use Utmost
Care and Secrecy—Cases Are Dismissed.

Prosecutor Dennis O'Neil asserted his rights, but that's all. This morning the grand jury went into session without the prosecutor at its head. John C. Cheney, the deputy prosecutor appointed by Dennis O'Neil for Shelby county, appeared in the court room shortly after nine o'clock and today he conducted the deliberations of the investigating body.

Judge Blair charged the grand jury in the usual way, with the exception that he interposed the admonition that he understood questions of great importance would come before the grand jury and should be treated with the utmost care and secrecy.

It was understood the case of the two prisoners who are now in the county jail would be taken up first. The prisoners are William Blakemon, colored, charged with blackmail, and a colored boy of Carthage named Cook, who was caught in the act of robbing a money drawer.

The usual number of dismissals and initory actions in cases attended the opening of the April term of court yesterday. Although only three cases were dismissed, a number of other actions of importance were taken in other cases.

The plaintiffs moved for judgment in the two hundred dollar damage suit of Luther and Joseph Caldwell against J. M. Gwinn. The court sustained the judgment of the verdict for fifty dollars, rendered by a jury last term of court. The plaintiffs asked damages for the death of a horse which was hit by Gwinn's automobile.

The defendant filed a motion for a new trial in the partition suit of George W. and Jasper M. Coon against Hickson S. Stevens and others.

The defendant in the case of Roscoe D. Edwards against John A. Osborne and William Emsweller, in which $675 was asked on a note, filed a motion for a change of venue from this county.

The case of George E. Erdman, trustee in bankruptcy, estate of James W. Craig, bankrupt, against the Greensburg National bank, occupied the time of the court yesterday afternoon. The suit was brought to recover a preferential payment and $2,352.67 was demanded. The plaintiff filed a motion for the defendant to file certain books and papers for inspection.

The guaranty case of the Havens & Geddes Company against Clarence H. Beard, in which $296.10 was demanded, was dismissed and the costs paid.

In the matter of the petition of James E. Naden to revoke the saloon license of Basil Seward, the defendant filed a motion to strike out parts of the complaint.

The defendants filed an answer of general denial in the suit brought by Maude R. Wolcott against Harriet Plough and Will M. Bliss to collect five hundred dollars damages.

The divorce suit of Margaret Whitaker against Joseph Donald Whitaker was dismissed by the plaintiff and the costs paid. Mrs. Whittaker, besides demanding a divorce, asked for one thousand dollars alimony.

The defendant failed to appear in the divorce proceedings of Carrie Netz against John W. Netz, and Mrs.

TASTE, SMELL AND HEARING RESTORED

A Simple, Harmless Remedy Quickly Relieves Catarrhal Deafness.

The thousands who suffer the miseries of catarrh, and claim they have never found a cure, can get instant relief by simple anointing the nostrils with Ely's Cream Balm.

Unlike internal medicines which upset the stomach, or strong snuffs which only aggravate the trouble, this cleansing, healing, antiseptic balm instantly reaches the seat of the trouble, stops the nasty discharge, clears the nose, head and throat, and brings back the sense of taste, smell and hearing. More than this, it strengthens the weakened, diseased tissues, thus protecting you against a return of the trouble.

Nasal catarrh is an inflammation of the membrane lining the air passages, and cannot be reached with mixtures taken into the stomach or with snuffs and powders which only cause additional irritation. Don't waste time on them. Get a fifty cent bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist, and after using it for a day you will wish you had tried it sooner. Hargrove & Mullin, special agents.

OWNERSHIP OF PUBLIC UTILITIES

Advocated By Stephen M. Reynolds.

AN INDIANA OBJECT LESSON

How Indiana Tried to Build a Railroad, and How It Cost the People $1,500,000 and Brought No Results—An Experience That the Advocacy of Government Ownership of Public Utilities Brings Sharply to Mind.

Indianapolis.—"We advocate the collective ownership of all social property and the democratic management thereof. By social property I mean railroads, telephone and telegraph lines, express companies, sleeping car companies, street and interurban railways, water works, gas companies and the like; in fact, all public utilities, to be operated by the people and for the people, and not by the capitalist for the benefit of the capitalist."

This sentiment was uttered by Mr. Stephen M. Reynolds, Socialist candidate for governor, in speaking of the preparations now in progress for the Socialist national convention which will meet in this city on May 12. He said that his party is preparing to make an aggressive campaign throughout the state and country and he is taking a very optimistic view of the situation. Mr. Reynolds has been a Socialist for fourteen years, has made the race for congress in the Fifth district, and has been the nominee of his party for mayor of Terre Haute.

Under his direction the Socialists are pushing the propaganda night and day, having 200 organizations in the state and in some of the smaller towns, especially in the mining districts, having succeeded in electing the local officers.

A declaration in favor of government or popular ownership of public utilities by the Socialist national convention and its advocacy in the campaign, will no doubt recall to many the experience of Indiana in the building of the old Madison and Lafayette railroad which was a part of the system of international improvements undertaken in 1836 and ending disastrously several years later. It has been but a few years since a New Yorker sent to a lawyer in this city some $7,000 of the old bonds and the state paid them after a suit in court in which the legality was satisfactorily established. No one, it seems, knew of their existence till they were presented for payment, it having been supposed that all of the bonds had been paid and canceled.

The Madison and Lafayette railroad was authorized by an act of the legislature of 1836 and it was begun under the direction of a board of public improvement appointed under the act and empowered to "establish such rates of toll or other charges for passengers or property as they may deem reasonable and most consistent with the public interests." The expenses of operation were to be paid out of the earnings of the road. The survey was made, but the work went on so slowly that the legislature of 1842 abolished the board and provided for the continuation of the work by a private company under the general supervision of the state. A report made at the time showed that practically no work had been done except on the hill, and the inclined plane at Madison, and that this was done in "a very wasteful manner." Under this act the road was turned over to the Madison & Indianapolis Railroad company, and the expense to date was shown to be $1,624,292, and of this sum the road had earned only $62,493.

One year after this act the road passed into the hands of others, the state still retaining stock, but this paid nothing and the transaction showed a net loss when it was closed up of nearly $1,500,000, the original appropriation of $1,300,000 having been sunk and with it all that the road had earned for the state up to that time. This was the record that the state made as the owner and operator of a railroad back in 1842, added to the millions that were sunk in the old canal building era, placed a burden of debt upon the people that it required years to recover from.

Socialists contend that they have made great progress through the education of the people by means of municipal-owned lighting plants and water works, and that these, where the management has been separated from politics, have been in the main successful; that is, that the people have gotten cheaper water and light. The opponents of government ownership, while denying that this is true even of municipal-owned plants, see a great difference between operating a little light plant or a water works plant, in which not more than ten or a dozen persons are employed, and operating a system of railroad lines extending across the continent and employing many thousands of men. They say that the capabilities for machine politics in the first are reduced to the minimum, while the possibilities of the second are at a maximum.

Mr. Reynolds is a delegate to the national convention and is pledged to urge his views upon that body. In explanation of his advocacy of the abolishment of the United States supreme court he declared that there are 201 decisions by that body in which the rights of the people have been usurped.

BODIES OF MANY OF TITANIC'S VICTIMS

They Are Now Being Brought to Halifax

Halifax, N. S., April 23.—The cable ship Mackay-Bennett sends word she has fifty-three bodies picked up from the Titanic wreck and which either have been identified or are in such condition that it is probable they can be identified when brought to Halifax. Orders were sent to the Mackay-Bennett by the White Star line to steam for Halifax with the bodies that have been recovered, and the ship was notified at the same time that the Western Union cable ship Minia would be dispatched to the scene to relieve her.

The intention of the Mackay-Bennett when she left this port was to bring back only such bodies as were identified or identifiable with the extreme probability that many unknown bodies would have to be returned to the sea. A clergyman was taken to perform the burial service in such cases. The same thing is being done with the Minia. The Minia takes more than a clergyman for this purpose. She received on board a quantity of old iron to be used as weights in taking to the depths of the ocean the bodies that are not retained by her. The Minia's equipment for this expedition also includes 150 coffins and eighty tons of ice. With favorable weather she will reach the scene of the disaster or the point where the bodies have been reported or found, in forty-eight or fifty hours, and the Mackay-Bennett will require the same time to return.

George Widener's Body Among Them. New York, April 23.—The White Star heard from the two commercial cable company boats which they sent out after the Mackay-Bennett cable steamer, which has been searching for bodies. The steamship company got a cable telling that twenty-seven bodies of those recovered have been identified, but the trouble in transmitting accurate dispatches by wireless was so great that a large number of the names received at this end do not tally with the names of those lost. Among those reported identified was George Widener, son of the Philadelphia traction magnate.

MAY SEND GUNBOAT

President and Secretary of State Discuss Mexican Situation.

Washington, April 23.—Conditions in Mexico were made the subject of a conference by President Taft and Secretary Knox. It was practically decided that if it becomes necessary to provide transportation to this country for Americans who are stranded on the west coast of Mexico, that the gunboat Yorktown and the collier Prometheus will be used for the purpose. These vessels are now at San Jose, Guatemala.

No answer has been received from Counsel Letcher at Chihuahua concerning the demands he was instructed to make on General Orozco, the rebel leader, for the release of two unknown Americans who have been incarcerated by Orozco since March 26. Ambassador Wilson has reported the departure of Senor Calere, former foreign minister, who is on his way to Washington to assume the duties of ambassador.

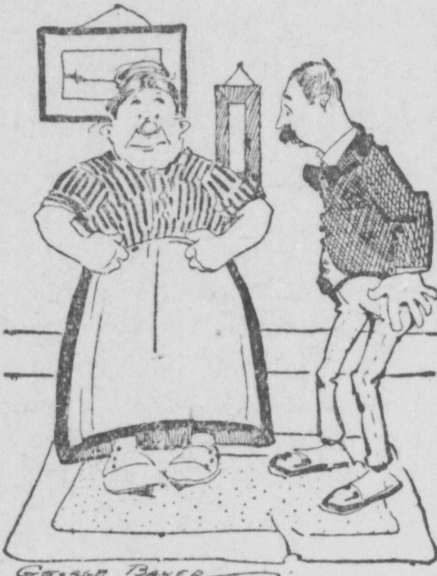

Details of Fez Battle. Tangier April 23.—Since the mutiny of the native troops was put down more details of the trouble at Fez have been received. About thirty French citizens were massacred. The Jews were treated in a barbarous manner, many of them being thrown from the housetops. Many girls were violated and kidnapped. The French casualties during the fighting were about 100 killed and wounded. The mutineers had 800 killed and about 1,000 more were captured.

ANOTHER INVASION OF CHICAGO SPORTS

Horse Racing to Be Revived On Indiana Soil.

Laporte, Ind., April 23.—The announcement of Ben R. Hyman, the Chicago track promoter, and others associated with him, that Chicago is scheduled to have ninety days of racing, starting June 15, has created considerable interest as well as some uneasiness here. There will be two tracks erected in Indiana, one in Porter county and one in Lake county. The cost of the courses will be $200,000. Six meetings of fifteen days each will be run. There will be no attempt at continuous racing. The season will close Oct. 15.

Hyman bases his hope for the turf revival on the law which permits fifteen-day meetings in Indiana. He points out that there is no law in the Hoosier state which holds track owners responsible for betting on their courses. It was the owners' liability clause in the New York anti-gambling law which dealt racing in Gotham its death blow.

While pointing out that the founders will neither indulge in any gambling nor sell any concessions, the latest turf revival opines that any spectator of standing will have little trouble making an oral bet.

"People may laugh at my scheme, but I am certain that there will be racing in Indiana this year," says Hyman. "We have plenty of backing. The ground is picked for the courses, and we are satisfied that there will be no interference, as we will not be violating any Indiana law."

Mrs. Minnie Moody, Frankfort, Ind., has found Foley's Honey and Tar Compound to give such good results that she uses it for all coughs and colds with the best results. She says "I wish to recommend Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. It is the only thing I ever found to relieve my little girl of a cough."

HIGH SCHOOLS
RATED HIGHER

Rigid Compliance With Requirements Insisted On.

ALL CERTIFICATES CANCELED

Recertification Will Be Made Only on Examination by Members of State Board of Education, the Present Adequate Supply of Teachers Permitting a More Rigid Enforcement of Regulations Than Formerly.

Indianapolis, April 23.—State Superintendent of Public Instruction Charles A. Greathouse has prepared to send to all the city and town school superintendents of the state a circular letter explaining the changes authorized by the state board of education in the high school course so as to enable schools, with proper equipment, to introduce extensively industrial training in place of other subjects which have long held sway.

The letter also set out that the state board canceled every certificate formerly granted certified high schools, or schools with a three-year high school course, and that recertification will be made only on examination by members of the board. It was explained in the letter that because of the lack of teachers under the act regulating the minimum requirements of teachers, it was formerly necessary for the board to be lenient in certifications in order to provide an adequate supply of teachers. Since the shortness of teachers has been overcome, the board will henceforth, it was set out, insist on rigid compliance with three-year high school requirements.

Under the law, no person may teach in the common schools of the state who has not had twelve weeks' professional training following a minimum course of study equivalent to that prescribed by the state board for high schools offering three-year courses and followed in a certified school.

WOULDN'T STAND FOR IT

Apparent Imposition Firmly Resented by This Man.

Indianapolis, April 23.—"It's a matter of principle with me, judge, and before I'll pay that 35 cents you can send me to jail," said George Andre, who was on trial in police court charged with violation of the hotel law.

Andre said he believed it was his duty to protest against the discrimination practiced by the restaurant at the union station. He had ordered two eggs, bread and butter and coffee there, and they had charged him 35 cents. A man next to him had been charged much less for the same things. It was explained to Andre that this was because the other man was an employee. That made no difference. Policemen were called, and they asked Andre to pay, saying they did not want to arrest him. Andre was firm. Judge Collins continued the case.

Grandfather Also May Die.

Laporte, Ind., April 23.—While playing with matches and paper, Page Lowry, five years old, set fire to his clothing, and was burned to death. Amos G. Barber, the grandfather and deputy county treasurer, in an endeavor to extinguish the flames, was so badly burned his recovery is not expected.

She Was Despondent.

Lafayette, Ind., April 23.—Hearing his wife calling in agonized tones, Frank Abbott went to the front room of their home and found her dying. She had swallowed two ounces of poison, and death occurred twenty minutes later. Mrs. Abbott's act is attributed to despondency.

Caught in the Current.

Evansville, Ind., April 23.—While attempting to cross the Ohio river here in a "dinky," Ed Williams, aged thirty, was caught in the swift current, thrown out of the boat and drowned. Williams came here a few weeks ago from Sacramento, Ky.

Letter Led to Suicide.

Logansport, Ind., April 23.—William Rohrbeg, aged fifty, killed himself by firing a bullet into his brain. Rohrbeg received a letter from Germany which caused him much agitation. His suicide followed.

STORM'S DEATH
LIST GROWING

Total Reaches Half a Hundred and Is Not Complete.

COMMUNICATION INTERRUPTED

With the General Prostration of Wires in the Storm-Swept Districts Details of the Double Cyclone Which Swept Over Northwestern Indiana and Central Illinois Are Delayed—Georgia and Alabama Also Hard Hit.

Chicago, April 23.—More than a half hundred persons were killed, as later details indicate, and more than 500 injured by the two tornadoes that swept over northwestern Indiana and northeastern, central and southern Illinois. Later advices may increase the number of dead, or the number may be slightly decreased by the sifting out of duplicated reports. The towns and villages reporting show the following:

Places.	Dead.	Injured.
Bush, Ill.,	18	100
Morocco, Ind.	10	12
Wellesville, Ill.	7	41
Campus, Ill.	3	6
Grant Park, Ill.	5	41
Near Murphysboro, Ill.	6	300
Sheldon, Ill.	1	1
Near Rensselaer, Ind. ...	1	6
Lowell, Ind.	10
Scattered casualties	8	20

Miles of telegraph and telephone wires were blown down, farmhouses were demolished in the path of the storm, and it is probable the death list will be increased when communication is restored with all points over which the tornado passed. Though there is no way of estimating the damage by the storm, it is certain to run into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Trolley lines throughout the storm-swept district suffered heavy damage on account of the destruction of the poles.

TWENTY-FIVE DEAD

Cyclonic Storms Sweep Over Middle Georgia and East Alabama.

Atlanta, Ga., April 23.—Probably twenty-five persons were killed and over a hundred injured as the result of cyclonic storms which swept portions of west and middle Georgia and east Alabama. In the latter section the storm struck Adamsville, Pinckney City, Brookside and several other villages. Fifteen persons are reported dead in these places and many injured. In Brookside it is reported that thirty houses were destroyed. A large area was covered by the storm in eastern Alabama and residences and barns of many farmers were destroyed. Hall followed the storm and destroyed the young cotton and corn.

At Newborn, in Newborn county, six people are reported dead and more than a score injured. Many houses were wrecked and the occupants caught in the ruins. There was much damage done at Hampton and two women are reported killed. The storm was very severe at Cedarstown and in Polk county, Georgia, it cut a path of ruin almost through the county. Owing to the prostration of the telephone and the telegraph wires, it is impossible to get an accurate list of the dead and injured.

STUCK TO ROOMS

Many of the Titanic's Passengers Laughed at Alarm.

New York, April 23.—One feature of the Titanic disaster that is expected to occupy the attention of the senate investigating committee is why some of the lifeboats were not full to capacity when sent away. Many boats held only twenty or thirty when they were dropped into the sea. Others picked up swimming men and still were not overtaxed.

Emily Badman, an English girl, who sailed third-class on the Titanic to visit friends in Syracuse, said that she heard stewards appealing to women to get dressed and be ready to take to the boats, and that many women laughed and told the stewards they were foolish.

"An hour after the ship struck," said Miss Badman, "I made my way with some girl friends to the top deck. I heard officers shout orders to men to get their wives ready and heard men say that it was better to stay on the ship than trust themselves to the boats. I did not get away until the last boat but one. By that time, of course, everybody knew that the ship was sinking because all decks were under except the top. I believe that dozens of people were drowned in their staterooms. I heard that some locked their doors and refused to open them when stewards knocked and warned them there was not much time to lose. One steward said that he spent most of his time between the collision and the foundering, trying to get women and children on deck, but that many told him it was nonsense to worry and that they did not intend to get panicky.

TELEPHONE NUMBER, 1111.

King Corn.

That millions of dollars may be saved annually by testing the seed corn before it is planted is the firm belief of the council of grain exchanges. Posters are being sent out urging farmers to take this precaution and showing how the test may be carried on by school children to their own educational advantage and to the economical gain of farmers.

The poster emphasizes the fact that a farmer loses $4 for every ear of corn planted which does not grow, and that pure seed means 1,000,000 bushels more every year. Seed selection will also add 10 bushels an acre to the corn yield.

The process of testing seed corn is illustrated by diagrams. Each school child in a district is asked to take part in what they term a "rag baby" contest. Twelve ears of corn, enough to plant an acre, are to be secured by each child and brought to school. From each ear four to ten kernels are to be taken, the ears to be numbered and the kernels kept separate and numbered in the same way. These kernels are to be wrapped in a carefully numbered square of damp cloth and protected by a piece of damp gunnysack to keep from drying out.

At the end of six days the squares are unwrapped, and the tabulation takes place. On a slip of paper, numbered like the squares, are spaces marked "good," "weak" and "dead." As soon as each square is opened it will be tabulated "good" if the grains have thrown out both sprouts and rootlets; "weak" if only sprouts or rootlets alone, and "dead" if ungerminated.

In this way the farmer will be convinced that he will secure best results by planting the seed which has been carefully tested. The council believes the time is coming when the children will test all the seed which is planted, not only corn, but wheat and oats and vegetable seeds.

Since there are 100,000 acres of corn in an average county, ten bushels more per acre would mean an annual increase of 1,000,000 bushels. At the very moderate price of 50 cents per bushel, this amounts to $500,000 more for the farmers in an average county.

One ear of corn contains about 800 grains, each of which should produce a stalk bearing ear. Each ear of corn is then worth $4. Since it means just as much work to plant a poor ear as a good one, the testing of corn becomes a great economic factor which farmers will surely observe.

Sam Sanderson Says:

That with so many things in Rushville about to happen all at once his head is in a whirl.

The Difference.

In his rapid railway passage across Iowa, Col. Roosevelt had little to say to the people of that State, and the little was far from complimentary, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. He told the Iowans that they have no real voice in politics. They think they have, as he expressed it, but what is done is merely the action of machine bosses. There are no delegates for Roosevelt in Iowa, though, several are for Cummins. But the Colonel recognizes no so-called Progressives except those personally conducted by himself, and no delegates who by any possibility could be for anybody else unless the colonel names the substitute. He has had, in his own opinion, such poor success with his choice four years ago that it is probable he will never trust anything again not under his own hat.

Yet the Iowa idea was about the earliest sign of what is termed progressiveness inside the Republican party. It was much in evidence during the Roosevelt years in the presidency, but never enlisted his sympathy. If there was a machine in Iowa in 1904 the Republican nominee for a second term as president raised no objection. He approved all that was done in 1908 in behalf of the candidate he then favored, but whose claim to a second term he now derides because he seeks a third term for himself. Not a vote from Iowa will be cast for the third term at Chicago. The colonel accordingly tells the Iowans that they are frightfully shackled by bosses. On this point the Iowa idea is to laugh.

Newcastle used to have a lot of sport out of Rushville when some paved streets were built here. Now, that's all you read in the "Rose City" papers.

And, if they build the county power house on the court house lawn, we can take the visitors around and show it off as one of the sights of our town.

Lot of newspapers have it all doped out just how it happened. One says: "Titanic Goes to Bottom" and another opines in a headline: "Big Ship Sinks 2000 Fathoms."

Last night's frost was somewhat of a frost according to best reports.

When motion pictures of the Titanic going down appear we presume they will be about as real as those of the third term's lion hunt in Africa.

ENTERS DENIAL TO SUCH AN ASSERTION

George Declares he Didn't Say Commissioners Used Money From One Office For Another.

NO REFLECTION ON THE BOARD

C. M. George, county superintendent of the schools, has taken exception to an assertion which was credited to him in the Jacksonian Saturday, and he today issued a statement in denial of it. The newspaper said the superintendent appeared before the county council Saturday in the interest of an appropriation for which he had asked and declared "that in the past money appropriated for his use had been used for other county officers by the county commissioners."

Supt. George enters a strong denial to that. He says he referred to "sharp practices" of large printing establishments who bid for county supplies. He pointed out that some estimates on things with which the commissioners are familiar are lower than the actual cost, and the estimates on things, familiar to the board, are bolstered so as to make up for the cut on the other. Mr. George declares he said this was equivalent to using money from one county office for another. That was his plea for asking for additional appropriation. Supt. George said he meant no reflection on the commissioners, and he felt they did not take it as such.

Netz was granted a divorce by Judge Blair. He granted a judgment of twenty-five dollars against her, and ruled she should not be given the decree until the costs are paid.

The defendant filed an answer of general denial in the replevin suit brought by James W. Anderson, as trustee of Richland township, against John W. Ryon, a defeated road supervisor of the township. Mr. Ryon insists he is still acting in official capacity, although he was defeated by a narrow margin. His successor did not qualify because he was already holding one office, and the trustee appointed a man and he qualified. The replevin suit is to gain possession of a road scraper belonging to the county.

The divorce suit of Cora A. Alsop against James L. Alsop was dismissed by the plaintiff and the costs paid. Mrs. Alsop asked for five hundred dollars alimony.

COUNCIL TO MEET AGAIN IN 30 DAYS

made remaining in the cellar very long at a time almost impossible.

The escaping steam in the cellar is said to have caused other damages which may result in serious trouble. The dampness has rusted the big beams which hold up the floors, and in time, it is feared, they will break and allow the floors to cave in, which would be a great financial loss, and which might result in the loss of life or injury to persons in the court house.

According to estimates which have been prepared, the repairs on the court house will cost several thousand dollars. A new roof alone—and contractors declare the cheapest plan is, after the roof is in the condition it now is, to replace it with a new one—will cost between ten and twenty thousand dollars. A copper roof would cost the maximum and an asbestos roof would cost the minimum, it is estimated, or possibly twelve thousand dollars.

Estimates have been prepared and given to the council for a new roof, a cement floor in the assembly room, pointing up defective places in the stone work, placing asbestos on the heating pipes in the cellar and aerial walls for ventilation.

The court house was completed in 1897. It is pointed out that the building is in good condition, when the fact is considered that it has been used fifteen years and only a very few dollars has been spent on it in making repairs.

ROBBERS TAKE CHILDREN'S BANK

Loot Father's Purse And Get About $20 While Family of Clifford Carroll is Away.

SUSPECT ARRESTED; RELEASED

Clifford Carroll's home on the Rush-Decatur county line, near Clarksburg, was looted while the family was away and $20 taken; $18 from Mr. Carroll's pocketbook and $2 in pennies from the children's bank.

A suspect, Charles McCarty, a simple minded youth, was arrested but on being searched, nothing of an incriminating nature was found on his person and he was released.

The Carroll family had spent Sunday visiting away from home. They returned about five o'clock in the afternoon, and as they neared their place saw a suspicious character in the region of the house. This statement was what caused the arrest of McCarty, though few people are of the opinion that he is guilty of the charge.

The man is feeble-minded, and nothing much could be learned about him, though it is a fact that he had nothing on his person that would indicate that he had robbed the Carroll home. A posse of citizens searched the neighborhood for the robber, who is believed to have been some passing tramp.

A City of "Model Kitchens"

All over Rushville women who own Hoosiers are delighted with their kitchens. Praises are endless. "I wouldn't be without my Hoosier for $1.00." "My automatic servant." "It is simply wonderful. It saves miles of steps for tired feet." "The only perfect kitchen cabinet I ever saw." "It saved me at least $15.00 last year in supplies." "It puts everything in my kitchen at fingers' ends." Out of 450,000 Hoosiers sold, you couldn't buy a second-hand Hoosier Cabinet for love or money anywhere in all America.

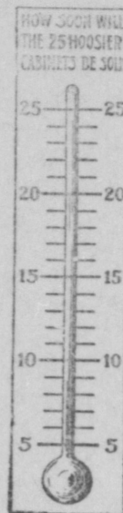

What You Get With the Hoosier

Without extra cost you get with the Hoosier a sanitary, metal flour bin, capacity 65 pounds; "clock-face" patented want list; roomy cupboard for cereals, dishes, etc.; metal sugar bin, dust-proof; crystal glass air-tight spice jars; glass air-tight tea and coffee jars; handy utensil hooks; sanitary rolling pin rack; improved metal bread and cake box; metal cake tray; compartment cutlery drawer; linen drawer large pot and kettle cupboard, pan racks, sliding shelf; convenient cutting board; patented aluminum covered table, 40x39 inches—larger more convenient than a kitchen table; copper plated adjustable door fasteners; ball-bearing, high grade pressed steel casters. Finish is golden oak, water and steam proof.

Size—height, 5 feet 8 inches; width, 3 feet 4 inches; depth of lower section, 2 feet 4 inches.

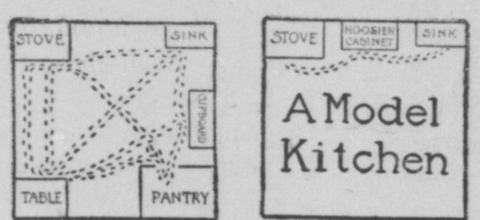

The Club Plan in Detail

A certain number of Hoosier Cabinets have been sent to each of the 3,000

How soon will 25 Hoosiers be sold? 20 already taken.

How a Hoosier Cabinet Saves Miles of Steps

Your table is in the center of all your kitchen work. Everything you take to your stove, to your sink, to your dining room, first goes onto your table. Everything you bring from your pantry, refrigerator, cupboard, cellar, goes onto your table. If you must walk from place to place to collect these things and put them back again your kitchen is not ideal. It tires you. Your ideal kitchen saves these steps by combining in the Hoosier Cabinet a pantry and cupboard around a big table covered with pure aluminum. The Hoosier Cabinet puts everything at your fingers' ends. You can sit down at work. Your table is not cluttered. Spices, sugar, salt, dishes, flour, utensils—everything has its place. You get through quickly.

Hoosier agents (leading furniture merchant in each town) to be sold on the famous Hoosier Club Plan. Membership in these clubs is limited by the number of cabinets sent. Each member admitted pays $1.00 membership fee; balance in $1.00 weekly dues for a few weeks. The cabinet is delivered at once.

How Low Fixed Price Protects You

The Hoosier Club Plan differs entirely from the installment plan which often is linked with unknown goods at high prices. The Hoosier Cabinet cost is lowered by great volume of Hoosier sales. To insure you full benefit of this cost saving the low price of the Hoosier Cabinet is fixed at the factory.

You enjoy the liberal credit of the club plan, without paying one penny more than this low fixed price.

Only 25 Women Can Join

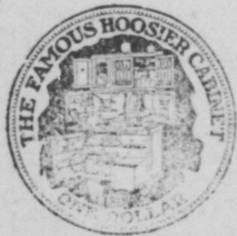

Thousands of women all over America buy Hoosier Cabinets every month. With this great club offer the demand doubles. The number of Hoosiers on the Club Plan for each town is limited usually to 15, but we have secured permission to extend the membership to 25. Only one woman in five who wanted Hoosier Cabinets could get one in some towns where this plan was tried first. Those who want a real Hoosier Cabinet should enter their names early.

Get a "Model Kitchen Book" Free

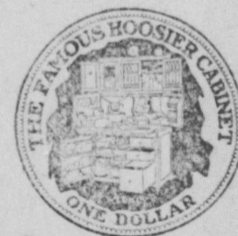

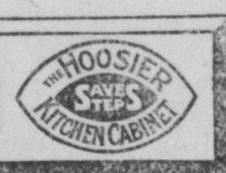

a small supply of the "Model Kitchen Book," famous text-book on kitchens used in domestic Science Schools, has been received for distribution among women interested in "model kitchens." It contains a complete description of the Hoosier Cabinet, and 25 illustrations including several photographs of model kitchens. To each lady who asks, we shall be glad to give one of these books, while they last, free.

ing from the auto horn, and when he was struck, neither he nor his wife knew that a machine was approaching them from the rear. The force of the collision forced the buggy upon the horse, breaking the hold-back straps, but as the horse was a gentle one it did not take fright. The breaking of the straps was the only damage done.

On arrival in Greensburg Robbins looked up Chief Johnson, who in turn located Schieveley. The Rush county man claimed that Robbins did not give any of the road, and that he came upon the rig so rapidly that it was impossible to stop. Mr. Robbins explained that where the collision took place, there were steep embankments on either side, and that it would have been impossible for him to have turned aside, even had he known the automobile was behind him. Mr. Robbins did not file any affidavit against Schieveley Saturday night, and it is possible the matter will rest where it is.

AMUSEMENTS

"Just a Bad Kid" is the title of the Thanhouser picture tonight at the Palace. The picture tells a novel and original story and is said to be an exceptionally good picture. The other is a Solax, "Parson Sue." This one is equally as good as the first. Tomorrow night the feature Rex drama "Angels Unaware" will be the attraction.

The Portola will show as the first film tonight a Pathe western drama, "Brothers." The other is a Selig production "The Little Match Seller."

Friday night the two reel production, "The Danites" will be the attraction. This is a great western story and is said to be a remarkable picture. A duet "Mon Gijou" will be sung tonight.

The Princess has a detective story, "Tracked Down" as the first picture tonight. "The Hobo's Redemption" is a thrilling Vitagraph, the scenes of which are laid in a coal mine. The hero of the story rescues the superintendent of the mine after a cave-in. The rescue is said to be very sensational.

BY THE cynic, the sad, and the fallen,
Who have no strength for the strife,
The world's highway is cumbered to-day;
They make up the item of life,
But the virtue that conquers passion
And the sorrow that hides in a smile,
It is these that are worth the homage of earth,
For we find them but once in a while.

MEATS FOR THE TABLE.

Variety is the spice of life and the progressive housekeeper is constantly varying the diet so that monotony is never a bugbear. It is easier to go on day after day cooking the same old dishes, it takes study and planning to make a variety and keep within the allowance for the table expenses. In many homes with the same allowance there is a vast difference in the food, because it is the last thing planned for and studied. In such establishments there is bound to be waste.

As meat is our most costly food it is reasonable to give thought in planning the meat dishes or there is needless expense. It is not niggardly to buy as little as is ordinarily consumed and one can always "water the porridge that all may dine," in case unexpected company arrives. A good way to serve chicken:

Stewed Chicken.—Cut up the fowl and cover with hot water, allow it to cook slowly until tender, boiling will toughen the tenderest meat. About half an hour before serving add a teaspoonful of salt and a slice of onion, more salt will be needed, but add it to the broth if necessary. Take two tablespoonfuls of flour, moisten with water, add to the broth with a half cup of cream, when hot pour over a well-beaten egg and serve poured over the chicken.

Irish Stew.—Take one pound of the neck of mutton and cut into small pieces, add three carrots and four onions, cover with boiling water and bring to a boil; stew slowly for 45 minutes then add five potatoes, pepper and salt to taste, and serve very hot with the vegetables around the meat.

"Wild Bob" to Drive New Cutting Racer

"WILD BOB" BURMAN.
"Wild Bob" Burman, world's speed king, who has driven a motor car faster than any other man ever dared, will appear in the second annual 500-mile International Sweepstakes race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway next Memorial Day in a new mount. The Clarke-Carter Automobile Co., of Jackson, Mich., has built a big Cutting racing car for Burman, and he believes it is faster than any other which is under the piston displacement limit of 600 cubic inches. This is the limit placed on the thirty starters in the race, so Burman believes he will maintain his reputation as the "Speed King."

CITY TURNS INTO HOTEL

INDIANAPOLIS TO BE ONE FOR MOTOR RACE VISITORS.

Speedway Organizes Bureau Which Will See That Thousands Are Cared for Over Memorial Day.

Thirty-four square miles of floor space in one hotel is what visitors to the second annual 500-mile International Sweepstakes race will find when they go to the Indianapolis Motor Speedway next Memorial Day, May 30. Indianapolis is being formed into a monster hostelry to care for the 100,000 visitors expected here to witness the world's greatest motor contest, and thousands of the best private homes of the Hoosier capital are being merged into one great lodging house for the motorists who will come from other parts of the country.

The Speedway has organized a department known as the "Room Bureau" which is listing the rooms and arranging them in the same manner as a hotel keeps records of its accommodations and guests. Thousands of rooms have already been obtained for the nights of May 29 and May 30, and reservations are being made through the Speedway by spectators who will come from every state.

The Indianapolis hotel keepers in a recent meeting arranged to co-operate with the Speedway management and to provide every person with accommodations, whether in their hotels or in private homes. Every hotel office will be a branch of the Speedway bureau and will have rooms assigned to it from the main office at Speedway headquarters. It is estimated that the full 100,000 visitors can be accommodated easily in this manner.

The city government of Indianapolis will also work to give aid to the visiting throngs. Police will be assigned as guides to show the visitors to their apartments and scores of messengers will be engaged in addition to help in housing the city's guests. A system has been arranged at the Speedway so that every visitor who makes request for reservation in advance will be advised before he starts for Indianapolis just where he will be located.

Filing systems have proved efficient in this part of the task and duplicated cards are furnished to the visitors and the owners of the homes in which they will be accommodated. Full directions for reaching their assigned rooms are furnished at the same time. It is believed this will relieve the congestion which was attendant upon handling the vast crowd last year.

In 1911 hundreds arrived at the last minute and failed to get the best accommodations so the task of doing away with his unpleasant feature has been started three months before the date of the race. Those who are intending to witness the race should communicate with some of the Indianapolis hotels or with the Speedway room bureau as soon as possible so that they have the best city offers.

The advance seat sale for the race indicates that the crowd this year will surpass that of last year. The seating capacity at the Speedway is more than 50,000, and about 10,000 seats have been reserved already. There are sixteen entries in for the race, with tentative entries of fourteen more. The field is to be limited to thirty starters.

NEW IDEAS FOR MOTORS

Two special motor speed creations, which bid fair to mark a new epoch in the building of racing automobiles, have been entered in the second annual 500-mile International Sweepstakes race to be run Decoration Day, May 30, at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, by the J. I. Case Threshing Machine Company, of Racine, Wisconsin. The entry was made on New Year's Day and was the first to be made for any race in the year 1912.

IGNORED APPEAL OF THE TITANIC

Unknown Vessel Sailed Away From Sinking Ship.

ITS LIGHTS PLAINLY SEEN

Evidence introduced in the Senate Hearing Indicates That Help Was Near at Hand, but That Unknown Vessel Refused to Respond to the Expiring Titanic's Signals of Distress.

Washington, April 23.—The fact that a vessel was within sight of the great liner when it came into fatal collision with the iceberg, has been developed by the senate committee's hearing into the Titanic disaster. This unidentified vessel was headed toward the Titanic. So close was she that her lights were easily discernible from the Titanic bridge. Yet this mysterious ship failed to respond to the burning rockets that were sent up for more than an hour as signals of distress, or to the urgent electric flashes which in the Morse code spelled the words "Come at once; we are sinking."

In the opinion of some of the Titanic's officers who stood on the bridge on that fatal night of April 14, this vessel within sight of the Titanic acknowledged the signals, but sailed away unheeding. This startling information was imparted to the committee by J. G. Boxehall, fourth officer of the Titanic, who also gave impressive details of what occurred on the bridge of the Titanic just preceding and following the collision with the iceberg. According to this officer, Captain Smith himself was on the bridge when the big liner plunged into the great mass of ice, but conditions were so that it was impossible to see the berg even after the ship had come into contact with it.

All attempts to shake Boxehall's conviction that he saw a ship ahead of the Titanic were unavailing. He declared he saw two of her masthead lights and that later, as she came nearer, he saw her red side light. He had no doubt if the Titanic had been equipped with searchlights, he said in answer to questions, that it would have been possible to attract the attention of this ship. Boxehall said he saw no one refuse to get into a lifeboat nor did he see anyone denied permission to enter the boats. He declared that he personally made certain when the ship left Belfast that all her lifeboats were properly equipped and provisioned.

Besides Officer Boxehall's dramatic story the senate committee heard an impressive account through Vice President Franklin of the White Star line of the uncertainty and fears that attended the efforts of the officials of the White Star line to ascertain just what had happened to the great Titanic. All the messages that flashed from the White Star line offices in these hours of uncertainty were introduced in evidence and also the wireless dispatches that came back bearing only the most meager news of the tragedy. The messages introduced in evidence for the White Star people tended strongly to support their contention that they had no definite knowledge that the Titanic had gone to the bottom until 6:30 on Monday night. There were also included in the record all the messages which passed between P. A. S. Franklin, vice president of the International Mercantile Marine company and J. Bruce Ismay, managing director, in regard to the latter's plan for holding up the Cedric and sailing at once on her with the survivors of the officers and crew from the Titanic. It was pointed out that practically all of the wireless messages, which Mr. Ismay sent from the Carpathia to Mr. Franklin in regard to this plan of transshipping before the Carpathia reached her pier were signed Yamsi, which is Ismay's cable name. Vice President Franklin acknowledged on the stand that the use of this cable name, while common in England, had not prevailed in dispatches addressed to the New York offices. Mr. Franklin could not tell whether the name was registered in the cable offices in New York. He did not think it was. The dispatches from Mr. Ismay showed that he planned to have the lifeboats of the Titanic taken off with the crew and officers at Quarantine. Mr. Franklin declared there had been a "terrible mistake" in regard to Mr. Ismay's intentions and that the managing director never would have proposed the arrangement for sailing on the Cedric if he had been aware of conditions in this country.

MARTIN A. KNAPP

Head of Commerce Court Paves Way For Mediation.

MEDIATORS SEEK TO AVERT HUGE STRIKE

Eastern Roads and Engineers May Get Together.

New York, April 23.—By the prompt action of Martin A. Knapp, president judge of the United States commerce court, and Charles P. Neill, United States commissioner of labor, orders which were to call out locomotive engineers of the fifty railroads east of Chicago and north of the Ohio river by 6 o'clock tomorrow morning were postponed.

Three hours after W. S. Stone and the chiefs of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers had announced that the strike which would cripple the east and New England, would be on as soon as the orders could be carried out, the two government representatives arrested action by a tender of their services in mediation. This offer was received with favor by Mr. Stone and his aides, who held their advisory committee of fifty chairmen, one man from each railroad, in the city. Captain J. C. Stuart, vice president of the Erie railroad and chairman of the conference committee of railroad managers, which had been dealing with the union men since January, just as promptly declared that he will submit the proposition to his committee. Personally he had always favored peaceable negotiations, but he had not the power to do anything.

There is no doubt that the chances for a peaceable way out of the difficulty without forcing either side to back down, was afforded by the offer of the government men.

Men are at work tearing down the old school building. Some of the lumber that is being taken out is quite valuable, no such lumber could be obtained for any small sum these days. The location of the new building does not seem to be in the most suitable place. We trust that the contractor will be able to use much of the lumber taken from the old in the construction of the new one. We believe it to be the right thing to have a fan to force the heat over the school rooms, there the temperature will be more uniform.

TORTURED BY ECZEMA

Awful Itching and Burning Drives Children Frantic.

Try This Remedy at Our Risk.

Eczema often comes from very trifling causes, such as disordered stomach or the use of alkali soap. Children's eczema can usually be traced to something of the sort.

Quick relief from the fiery itching that makes one almost frantic is needed but it is still more important to cure the disease.

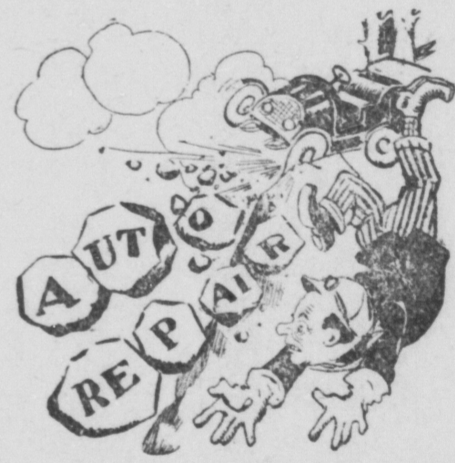

In our new skin remedy, Saxon Salve, we have a complete and successful treatment. Saxon Salve not only allays the itching in a few moments, but penetrates the skin pores so that its healing germ-destroying action reaches the very seat of the disease. Great improvement is seen in a few days.

This is the skin remedy that we sell on a positive guaranty to give back your money if you are not satisfied with the effects you get. F. B. Johnson & C. Druggists, Rushville, Ind.

MANY STREETS ARE TO BE OILED

Wilk & Company Receive Many Requests Already For Work to Keep Dust Down.

FIRST TANK DUE THIS WEEK

Will Use 40 Per Cent Asphalt Mixture to Harden Surface—To Put Them in Shape.

It is imminent now that Rushville will have to use oil to keep down the dust on the streets this summer. Many householders believe that oil is much better than water, anyway. Whatever may be the case, Rushville people will not be allowed to use water this summer to sprinkle and there is only one avenue of escape left—oil.

Since Rushville first began to oil the streets a few summers ago, this plan to keep the dust down has rapidly gained favor, and now has a lot of admirers who argued against it when the plan was an innovation here. Now those same people have learned that oil preserves the streets and keeps them in good condition.

On the other hand sprinkling is damaging to the surface of streets. The continual washing caused by sprinkling wears ruts in the streets and makes them very disagreeable for people riding in any sort of a vehicle.

That oil keeps the surface of streets in excellent condition is exemplified here in Rushville although oiling was started only a few years ago. There are some streets which will need very few more coats of oil until they will be very similar to asphalt, and can be used several summers without any application being made.

Wilk & Company are making arrangements now to oil this summer. The company will receive its first tank of oil the latter part of this week, and already orders are being the gifted bard once put into immortal words. But whether it is a comedy, drama or tragedy he neglected to state. Sometimes it is all three, with a suffragette ballet thrown in. Often, too, its humor and its tragedy are only divided by a hairline, and in most cases it's a woman's hair. We humans are the only animals that make fools of themselves; and if sometimes our errors are redeemed, it is not because of our wisdom, but in spite of our folly. We prove these few facts in received from people who want to have their work done first before there is a grand rush to have streets oiled.

Wilk & Company will charge eight cents a running foot for one application of oil. This means that it will cost property owners on each side of the street four cents per running front foot. The streets will not be oiled by Wilk & Company until orders are received to do so. Last summer, when this company had a contract to oil for certain property owners, it went ahead and oiled the remainder of the block in many instances, expecting to receive pay for the work. In this manner the company lost a large sum of money because any number of people refused to pay for the oiling although they were enjoying the benefits from it.

Wilk & Company have laid plans to do thorough jobs of oiling wherever they have contracts. They will not oil a street when it is not in the proper condition. They have a full equipment of road drags, scrapers and other useful implements to put a street surface in condition before the oil is applied. They will put the surface of every street oiled in the proper shape before applying the oil. This in reality will be gratuitous work, because no additional charge will be made when it is necessary to place the street surface in condition.

And in addition Wilk & Company will use a heavy oil which is forty per cent asphalt. This will help to harden the surface of the street. This will cause the surface to wear less and at the same time fewer applications will be necessary. Cheaper and thinner oil might be used but not as good results could be attained.

Wilk & Company have done a lot of free work on the streets of Rushville. Some property owners have employed this company to level and smooth the surface of their streets. The attention many people are giving to the city streets is very gratifying to those who have long advocated such measures, and it is predicted that in a few years Rushville will have streets of which the city can be justly proud.

DR. J. C. SEXTON IS ON PROGRAM

Several Local Physicians Plan to Attend Union District Medical Association Meeting.

WILL BE HELD AT LIBERTY

Several Rushville physicians, as well as a number in other towns in the county, are planning to attend the eighty-seventh semi-annual meeting of the Union District Medical Association at Liberty Thursday. The sessions will be held in the court house, and will begin promptly at ten o'clock in the morning.

Dr. J. C. Sexton of this city is on the program to read a paper on the subject "The Diagnosis of Surgical Stomach." Dr. C. S. Houghland of Milroy will open the discussion on the paper, "Some Injuries to the Knee Joint," which will be read by Dr. M. Fitton of Hamilton. A good country dinner will be served at noon after which Dr. E. O. Smith of Hamilton, a cousin of Dr. W. S. Smith of this city, will demonstrate the use of the famous medicine "606" on a patient from Cincinnati.

There are eleven counties included in the district. There are seventeen members in Rush county, eight of whom are Rushville doctors. The others are distributed as follows: Manilla, one; Orange, one; Arlington, one; Carthage, one; Homer, one; Milroy, three, and Mays, one.

CORONER SAYS IT WAS MURDER

Mrs. Harris by phone, but proved to be ineffective.

A farmer who lives on the road between Paul Harris' house and Ashland farm testified that he saw Paul Harris and the negro pass his house in a buggy on that Tuesday morning about eleven o'clock.

Frank Redman, rural mail carrier, passed Paul Harris and the negro that morning near the bridge at Riley Zorne's farm as they drove to Paul's house. He did not recognize them as the air was heavy with fog that morning. The rural mail carrier was approached by L. B. Harris who said his son Paul had declared to him that he and Culbertson passed the mail carrier at the bridge near Zorne's, which is a mile or more from the Ashland farm. The mail carrier generally arrives at that point about nine-thirty o'clock in the morning. On this particular morning, however, the mail carriers were over an hour late, having left the office at eight instead of seven, the schedule time.

Philos Culbertson, the negro farm laborer, sought refuge in the jail on Saturday following the tragedy on Tuesday. He went to the coroner with the story that he feared his life was in jeopardy because he had told about incidents of the day of the fire, and he was advised to remain in jail. He has been allowed to come and go at will, but he has remained pretty close to the county bastille.

ODD FELLOWS TO HAVE WORK

Fifteen Candidates to be Taken in Wednesday Night.

The local Odd Fellows will have work tomorrow night in the new hall. The Milroy degree team will be present and give four candidates the initiatory degree. The local lodge will confer the first degree on fifteen candidates. All the I. O. O. F. lodges in the county have been invited to attend and a large crowd is expected. After the work light refreshments will be served.
